Chapter 1: Greeting

Friends, hello everyone. You are on the YouTube channel "Prohnozy ta Maibutnie with Veronika Bulavina." Today we are talking with Ihor Mekheda, astrologer, numerologist, publisher, a person who is a true researcher and knows a great deal about the places of power of our motherland. Mr. Ihor, greetings to you. Good day.

Greetings to our viewers. Greetings to you, Ms. Veronika. It is very pleasant to see everyone.

Thank you. Thank you, Mr. Ihor. Absolutely mutual. It is always pleasant to talk with you because there is always something to discuss. I would like today's broadcast to be devoted not so much to the analysis of some political news, but rather to turn it into a kind of philosophical story and to talk about, to look at things from the side, because a medal always has two sides, even four edges, and to look from different perspectives in general regarding why we have this war, why new wars are starting around the world, why many masters are now warning us that we are entering a decade of wars. And it really seems that the arrival of a new epoch, a new era — by the way, the new era of Aquarius — is happening very quickly, very unexpectedly, surprisingly. And we are directly seeing these point flashes of conflicts. Why is that, Mr. Ihor?

Chapter 2: Why do we have this war?

Well, this can be explained. The thing is that we really had to be born and live with you at the moment of the breaking of epochs.

That is, if we take any spiritual teachings — whether we take the teachings of the Mayan Indians, or the teachings of the shamans of Mongolia or Tibet, or African teachings, for example, the ancient African religion of Ifa, or teachings from the civilizations of South America, for example, the Incas — they all have one thing in common: life on Earth proceeds in epochs. That is, there is one epoch, then a second epoch comes, a third epoch. These teachings may argue with each other about when an epoch ends. Some say that epochs end every 144,000 years, while European esoteric astrology says the opposite — that a new epoch ends every 12,000 years. So the duration of epochs differs in each teaching, but what unites them all is that precisely from 2011 to 2025, these 13 winged years, is the period between two epochs. It does not matter how long they last — it is at this moment that they change. The old epoch ended in 2011. The new epoch began in 2012. In 2026 the 13 winged years — the interval between epochs — we have passed. Now the new epoch begins.

Since I belong to Vedic teachings, I will explain to our viewers from the point of view of Vedic traditions. The Vedic tradition says that the Supreme created the first divine manifestation, which is called Brahma. He has four faces. And Brahma received energy from the Supreme to create our universe.

There are a great many universes and a great many Brahmas. Even Buddha cannot count them. That is what Buddhists say. It is even unrealistic because if Vishnu is depicted among all these worlds, there are more than billions of them. There is no end to them at all. An infinite number, as mathematicians said back in the time of Hilbert — infinity to the power of infinity.

And when Brahma creates the universe, he is full of strength and everything turns out well for him. The universe is beautiful, people live normally, animals do not eat each other, they limit themselves to other ways of feeding. Plants grow quickly, there are no destructive things such as hurricanes or earthquakes. This is called Satya Yuga. That is, everything in the universe is perfect. This can be compared to morning.

Then Brahma gets a little tired. Noon comes. This is Dwapara Yuga. But he still has strength. And in the universes everything is going well. After that comes evening, Treta Yuga, when he already wants to sleep and has spent all his energy on creation. He wants to sleep, but still supports life in the universe at the proper level. And after that he is already tired and has lost energy. And then Kali Yuga comes. That is, Brahma falls asleep, disappears for some time, and a nightmarish nightmare arises. And in this nightmare the entire universe lives. At the moment when Brahma's sleep comes, he joins the power of the Supreme and rests. After that he wakes up and Satya Yuga comes again.

Something like that. This is a great universal manvantara that lasts on the scale of the universe, but there are also small manvantaras that last on the scale of, for example, a galaxy, on the scale of the solar system, on the scale of our planet. And the smaller the scale, the shorter the duration of the manvantara. So we see that Satya Yuga, Dwapara Yuga, and Treta Yuga occupy 3/4 of any time. And Brahma's sleep also takes approximately 1/4 of the time. The same was true among the ancient Slavs. Among the ancient Slavs it was also believed that Svarog supports the universe, and then Svarog falls asleep. And while Svarog is sleeping, a nightmare is created, something terrible, dark ages, like a terrible dream. This is understood precisely as a terrible dream for the entire universe. After that, Svarog's night ends, Brahma's night ends, they rise again in full strength and Satya Yuga begins. And this is exactly what is happening to us now — that is, the planetary night has ended. By the way, many spiritual teachings and even entire religions agree with this, that the era of sleep has ended, when the gods were sleeping. And they are waking up, they are waking up and the dream is disappearing. And why are there such conflicts now? Because we have actually lived for several thousand years before that as if in a dream, in a nightmare. Look at what was happening in the Middle Ages: constant wars, human sacrifices, some crusades, someone wanted to conquer someone, someone resisted. There was not a single normal day without something bad happening. Rivers of blood flowed. That is, for example, you and I might not have survived in the Middle Ages, because something terrible was happening there in general. Now we read about it in books and wonder how it could have been in human history, but it was. This night is now receding, and day is coming. And therefore priorities are changing.

The thing is, if we take Ukraine — Ukraine has always been a country where new spiritual teachings were born. Let's take the Trypillians. The Trypillians had their own religion, one of the oldest on Earth. They also believed that there is a source of everything, and as they say now — the Absolute, the Supreme. They believed in this. But how did this Absolute manifest? They believed that it manifests in the form of the goddess of fertility, the Great Mother of the World, a woman who gives birth to everything. That is, the Absolute takes the form of the Great Mother of the Worlds, the goddess of fertility. And she gives birth to stars, galaxies, planets, Earth. She gives birth to all the elements. And she gives birth to animals, plants — the Great Mother of the Worlds gives birth to all this. And she was the main figure of the Trypillian pantheon. All other gods, supernatural beings — they all came from the Great Mother, because she gave birth to them. And therefore the main figure in the Trypillian religion was the Great Mother. And we can see how they depicted her. She was depicted as a woman with large breasts, pregnant, and with large hips. She is constantly pregnant because she must constantly give birth to something. And we saw... Now I will tell you a little more about this goddess.

And then they exported their religion. The thing is that the Trypillians had trade exchange with the Akkadian kingdom and the Sumerians. Scientists have already proven this archaeologically. That is, the exchange of beliefs and culture between these three civilizations really existed. And thus, when Akkadian or Sumerian kingdoms are excavated, they find Trypillian patterns. It also slightly affected the Babylonian kingdom and even reached Egypt. And in some objects of Egyptian art we also encounter Trypillian patterns. So they created one of the oldest religions of the world — the cult of the Great Mother — and spread it wherever they could. By the way, the yin-yang sign, which is used by such a religion as Taoism, this sign was first found on Trypillian pots. That is, the primary origin of the yin-yang cult in Taoism can be attributed to the Trypillians, because they really made the oldest sign exactly like yin-yang. The cult of the Great Mother is the oldest cult in the world. And these figurines were studied by archaeologists and even shown in documentaries we filmed. These are not simple figurines. The thing is that it is a clay figurine of the Great Goddess, and inside there are nine balls, because the number of the Great Mother is always nine. Nine months of pregnancy. In places of power where there is great energy of the Mother, there are always, for example, nine rock formations. If it is a temple of the Great Mother, it had nine altars. The Trypillians depicted a nine-rayed star on the walls of their houses and so on — all this is manifestations of the Great Mother. And therefore nine balls. And the most interesting thing is that if you take this clay goddess with nine balls inside and shake it, the balls will hit the figurine and it will start to vibrate. And it is such a pleasant vibration. It is somewhat similar to a singing bowl from Tibet. And it is believed that this vibration that the figurine gives drives out everything bad from the space. And such conditions are created that it is pleasant to live and be in the space and everything succeeds for everyone.

Yes, I even know that some people who are seriously engaged in business come to archaeological museums and provide a sponsorship amount for the development of the museums. And what do they ask in return? They ask to take one of these goddesses found during excavations and shake it nine times over their head. That is all they ask for it. They are asked: "Why, what do you get from this?" "You may not believe it, but immediately everything becomes good for us, the business develops, new opportunities appear." They say this goddess is somehow unusual.

By the way, after that there were already clay gods and goddesses in the Middle East that could sing. And by the way, they are even described in some biblical texts. And they are still used in some countries of the Middle East and South Africa — you can find them. But the first singing goddesses were the Trypillian goddesses. So Trypillia — you see, the cult of the Great Mother was born and came from our territory, because where did the Trypillians live? The territory of modern Ukraine, Moldova, and Romania. That is, that was their area where they lived.

Further, it is believed that on the Left Bank of Ukraine there were also tribes that in the literature now have the name Aryan, whose faith was Vedic. And they were with us on the left bank of the Dnieper. And then they went wandering to different countries of the world and brought the Vedic faith to them. And then the Scythians. The Scythians are generally interesting. The Scythian religion was so interesting. By the way, among the Scythians, just like among the Trypillians, the head of the pantheon of gods is a goddess. That is, they have the same principle. The goddess gave birth to this world. You see, that is why they say that Ukraine is the land of the goddess, because most of the religions that were on our land had a goddess as the head of the pantheon — the Great Mother. So this is the land of the Great Mother.

The Scythians — after that they dispersed from our lands all over the world and reached Mongolia and Tibet. And they had their own religion. They passed this religion to the peoples who live in Asia. Well, in this case at least Mongolia and Tibet. It also went to other lands. And when the great Buddha Shakyamuni began to preach Buddhism, the Buddhism that he preached completely coincided in theology with the teaching of those Scythians whom the Scythians brought to Asia. And therefore these descendants of the religion of the ancient Scythians became the first Buddhists and carried Buddhism all over the world.

And by the way, Buddhist teachers also come to us now. Recently Terasawa was here — he is a Japanese Buddhist, the leader of the Diamond Vehicle path. We even interviewed him for the magazine. He believes that the first teaching of Buddhism, that is, proto-Buddhism, originated among the Scythians on the territory of modern Ukraine and then went to Tibet and developed there. And therefore he believes that the primary source of Buddhism is here. And that is why he is now building a Buddhist monastery in the Carpathians. And he wants to build another one in Vinnytsia region.

So the primary source of Buddhism is also us.

And we can continue with the teachings of the ancient Cimmerians and the teachings of the Cimmerians. All these teachings were born on our lands, spread all over the world, and some of them even became world religions, such as Buddhism. I am not even talking about the yin-yang sign, which lies at the basis of Taoism. And by the way, Taoism almost has the same philosophy and theology as Hinduism. Only there the names are Chinese. Pangu is called, Adi Brahman is called Dao, and so on. That is, only the names are Chinese, but the essence of Taoism is built the same way as Hinduism. These are related religions.

And therefore it is not surprising. That is, Ukraine gave birth to huge spiritual teachings. Then the world night came and everything in the world fell asleep and was destroyed. It was dangerous to have secret knowledge because there were many dictators who wanted to destroy the world, and they needed secret knowledge to destroy each other. And therefore all the secret societies of priests who had secret knowledge went underground. Why? So that their knowledge would not be used for evil. And evil was total. That is why they were underground. And all the knowledge of the priests was underground because during the planetary night it was used not as it should have been used.

And then the night passed. And the sunrise of the new epoch began. And this means that everything that was sleeping, everything that was hidden, must come out of hiding, come out of the darkness into the light. And the same processes begin again.

That is, if new spiritual teachings that are very important for the development of all humanity were born on the territory of Ukraine — I am not exaggerating — they are beginning to be born again.

But the forces of darkness have not retreated completely. They are still trying to prolong their power over some parts of the world as long as possible. And therefore they are not interested in any spiritual teachings being born here with us, in the power of the Supreme being born here, in Mother Nature being born here, in the cult of the Great Mother Goddess again giving people the opportunity for breakthroughs in material life, so that they can live better materially. They are not interested in this, so they are trying to destroy us. And these forces are precisely the ones controlling those Kremlin elders who declared war on us.

That is, this is actually a war of something divine that is coming against something dark, against something unkind that must go down in history. This is exactly why this conflict exists. That is, it is a conflict, one might say, between divine forces and non-divine forces, between gods and asuras. This is exactly how all moments of the war of gods with asuras manifest.

That is, why is it happening? Well, it is not only happening with us. For example, the same Iran has a similar situation. There were a lot of religions in Iran. Now there is, for example, Zoroastrianism.

Chapter 3: Conflict between religions

Zoroastrians or Parsis — they have always been in the Persian Empire. This is a great religion, Zoroastrianism. It was once a world religion. And then there were Sunni Muslims. There is a very interesting Yazidi cult there. And there is even Christianity — there were many, many different religions on the territory of Persia. And they coexisted normally with each other, negotiated, did not conflict. But when these same ayatollahs came to power, they began to simply destroy all other religions, and physically at that. And therefore all other religions do not like them very much. Even other branches of Islam, such as Sunni Islam, cannot stand these ayatollahs. And for many years many peoples wished that this regime would finally be destroyed so that many peoples could be freed from it and could choose their own path of spiritual development. And this is exactly why that war has the same signs as ours. That is, something divine wants to awaken, and something that does not want this divine to awaken — because for the ayatollahs religion is no longer in first place, but money.

For many years, as it turned out, they took money from their country and took it out to the same Emirates and put it there and in other countries on bank accounts, because they thought that one day the people would rebel, drive them out, and they would need something to live on, you understand? That is, God was not in their heads, but money. By the way, the same as with the Kremlin people — in them, too, their own life, power, and money are in first place. What will happen to the world and to other countries, including their own, does not interest them. And this is precisely asuric nature.

In the Vedas there is a very interesting thing that when asuras come to power, they will exterminate cows. And what is happening now in Siberia? They are exterminating cows exactly as shown in the Vedic texts. That is, they are showing their asuric nature, that non-divine forces control our enemy. The reason for all this is precisely the conflict between the new, good, and the old, evil. This is the standard conflict that constantly accompanies humanity. And it must end because it will soon end.

Chapter 4: The number of the year: does the "nine" have meaning?

Uh-huh. You see, even the number of this year is a nine. Coincidence.

Nine, yes, possibly. The magic of numbers. By the way, it has been studied very weakly, but it really influences events because there are so-called magical numbers that are constantly present in all key events. Well, I will give you the simplest example. When such a movement as the communists appeared, the first Paris Commune lasted 72 days. Then the Soviet Union, which declared itself a communist state, existed for 72 years. And the destruction of it happened when Gorbachev was kept at the dacha for 72 hours. Here you see the number 72. And what is the number 72? It is a full cycle of development. That is, nature is considered cyclical and it constantly repeats the number 72. And 72 is the completion of something.

For example, if we take the research of psychologists, then our subconscious and also the unconscious have an alphabet. They have an alphabet. Just as we have an alphabet, letters from which words are composed. With these words we convey information. In the same way, in the subconscious there are 72 images or archetypes. For example, a woman with a baby in her arms, for example, rain, for example, an eye looking at you from the sky. That is, 72 archetypal images. And this is the alphabet of the unconscious. All dreams, myths, legends, meditations, dreams — everything that is built inside us is a set of the same images each time in a different order. Just as we compose words from letters, information is composed from these archetypes. It can be deciphered. But how many of these archetypes are there? There are 72. Further, in literature there can be 72 plots, just as in life — 72.

For example, a person was born, a person traveled or did not travel, created a family or did not create a family, children were born or were not born, studied at university or did not study at university, served in the army or did not serve in the army, traveled or did not travel. When you look at all these situations that can happen in a person's life, there are 72 of them. And in the fate of each of us these 72 situations are repeated in a different sequence. Therefore people have different fates, but there are only 72 plots in total.

Chapter 5: The hidden language of numbers: what does 72 mean?

And therefore 72 is considered a number that completes something. And, for example, in the Book of Veles it is written that there were 72 main deities among the ancient Slavs and they are listed by name. And if we look at the Middle East, in some mystical teachings there are 72 archangels — also 72. It constantly repeats.

Well, let's say, and I gave an example with the number 72. And when we see somewhere 13, somewhere nine, we can, with the help of the hidden language of numbers, see what force is actually acting in this or that situation, and also with the help of numbers we can launch some situation into action.

Chapter 6: Why do you often see the same numbers?

But if, for example, a person often sees, yes, it can happen that we see some numbers that repeat, or, for example, as you say, the number 72 constantly — what can this indicate?

Most often viewers ask me the question why, for example, they look at the clock and see 2:22 or 1:31 — what does the same number repeated twice or even three times indicate?

And it indicates that we live in two worlds: Yava and Nava. Or, if it is not clear to someone, then yang and yin. Uh-huh.

Yava is the ancient Slavic term. That is, we live in two worlds. In the first world we live in Yava — for example, we work, we understand everything with our consciousness. And then we live in a dream at night — we transition into sleep, and this is already Nava. And we live simultaneously in two worlds.

And therefore, when there are two identical numbers, it means that our individual Nava and our individual Yava are in good contact, in harmony, there is a bridge between them, they interact synchronously. And this is considered very good because Nava and Yava can exchange useful information. As a result, a person begins to better understand the world on a subconscious and intuitive level and make the right decisions on how it will be best. This is exactly good.

Cool. A very interesting topic, actually. I think many viewers are interested in it, and I am in particular.

Chapter 7: Is Ukraine moving in the right direction?

If we take in general such a marking of Ukraine from the beginning, even not from the full-scale invasion, but in general from the war, and starting from this date — accordingly from 2013-14 — and look at the moment here and now: where are we moving, are we moving in the right direction, perhaps we really went a little in the wrong direction, went the wrong way. And now this process, as a karmic-consequential one, has exactly such results.

No, we are moving absolutely correctly. The thing is that when you want to build something new and good for yourself, there will always be resistance. This is the law of nature. You know, the law of nature is this: if I want, for example, to build a little house, I have to go to the quarry, take stones and carry them and stack them where I will build it. That is, I am carrying stones, and they resist because I am carrying them. That is, I have to overcome gravity with my strength, which does not allow me to drag the stones. But when I have brought the stones and overcome gravity, I can build the walls of the house. That is, there is always resistance. We made a strong claim for a good future — both spiritual and physical. Resistance immediately turned on and we have to overcome it. That is, we will either have a future or we will not have it. Such a question. And how to fight resistance, how to overcome resistance — this is precisely the path of evolution.

You see, for example, now Ukrainians have begun to produce new weapons systems themselves, even such that other countries want to get experience in using them. These systems were created by us ourselves and we will continue to create them. Similarly, I have seen a lot — people already have ideas on technologies for the development of agriculture and the construction of cities of the future. A lot of things are really beginning to be implemented. And therefore this process has already started.

Yes. And I understand that the first thing we have to do is to make weapons — starting from physical weapons and ending with mental weapons. And even magical ones, because our Cossack character warriors knew how to do this. In order for us to be able to protect ourselves, we cannot build cities of the future. I have talked a lot with modern representatives. They say: "We will go somewhere into the forest and there make ourselves a family estate and live there. Or we will build cities of the future." I tell them: "And if you build it, some new Hitler or Putin will come and start destroying all this. The first thing that needs to be done, the main thing, is to have the strength so that there are no strikes at all, and under this protection to build cities of the future, because otherwise it will not work." This is idealism, utopia — those ancient leaders who in past centuries in different countries tried to build such things. It all collapsed because some neighboring army would come and after two hours there would be nothing left of all these their towns and estates. And therefore it is correct that we must learn to fight and defend ourselves. This is exactly what development is going on now. Development — and this is correct.

Development is good. It is always correct. Indeed, it seems that Ukraine is not standing still at all, it is moving forward no matter what, despite these crazy power outages, despite the shelling. Well, excuse me, but there really is something to compare it with. We look at the same Europe, and they do not know what to do when a Shahed flies into their airspace. And we, while the air raid signals are sounding, go to work, calmly sit in restaurants and do not even think about any bad consequences.

Actually, I will tell you about this. This is the law of nature. The thing is that if you come to the forest and see a young tree growing and nature does not touch it...

Chapter 8: Period of stagnation

...it allows it to grow. A storm — it will withstand it, ants do not eat it, birds do not peck it — it grows, grows, grows, grows. While it is growing, all nature helps it to grow.

But then it reaches its maximum point — this tree — and then it no longer grows. And this process is called stagnation. That is, at night it dries up, dies little by little, stands still at night and can no longer grow. And what happens then? The very first storm breaks it. Lightning strikes, shatters it into sawdust. This sawdust is immediately eaten by various beetles and ants. That's it. And there is nothing left of that tree. And in its place a new one begins to grow. And this is a natural process. If something is not growing, nature knocks it down so that something else can grow in its place.

By the way, this happened in Japan. Japan achieved very great results. There was everything — whatever food you want, housing that does not collapse from earthquakes, travel to any part of Japan, new such trains, planes, buses, boats — everything, robots serve you in a cafe, everything is good. And growth ended. And after that the number of suicides increased in them. Even now you can come to Tokyo and see that there are nets on the windows so that no one throws themselves out of the window, because there was a whole epidemic of suicides. Why? Stagnation. They reached the maximum point — what to do next. The economy is standing still, people do not understand what else needs to be built, where to move. And the Prime Minister of Japan speaks. He says: "We need some huge catastrophe, otherwise Japan will perish." And then, as commentators and journalists write, his words were heard by the gods and a huge earthquake and a huge tsunami occurred. The Fukushima station was damaged. And immediately there appeared a lot of things to work on, what needs to be restored, what needs to be rethought — and everything. In Japan stagnation ended and growth began, which is still happening.

This is how stagnation really is. Europe has been in stagnation since the times of the Second World War. They say this: "We defeated the Reich, the greatest threat has disappeared, there is nothing more terrible. Now we can build the future, live calmly, not rush anywhere." And they are in a state of such blissful sleep, that is, stagnation.

And when they want to conquer us, drones are flying at us, Shaheds are flying, Iran wants to bomb us with missiles. There are wars in the world, we are not ready. Where is our army? Where is our weaponry? Where is our spirit? Spirit. We once united — how many countries? 54 countries of the world united and broke the spine of the Reich. And now where is the unity? Where is this mutual understanding? How to break the spine of the opponent? They have lost this experience and they are urgently trying to raise it, and they will raise it. And by the way, in this case Ukraine is the leader, showing how it should be done. We are that impulse that is raising them from that sleep to something real, to real life, to survival, to development and building a new future. We are precisely this example.

How far can this example go? Can this example in general influence the negotiation process? There was news that America seems to be planning to withdraw from the negotiation process. And again, what can all this end up with for us in general?

Chapter 9: Problems on the territory of the Russian Federation

Well, it will end with the fact that the regime of our so-called northern neighbor will still be destroyed. We can see this.

I have repeatedly said that the heavy knots from Ukraine's horoscope disappeared already in January 2026. They disappeared. This means that space must help us develop, not destroy us. And now according to the law of karma. Well, look for yourself what is happening. In just the last three days ours destroyed oil refineries and stopped at least 40% of oil exports. Even if oil prices rise, they can no longer supply such a quantity of oil to world markets. Further, they have a lot of gold. They wanted to buy weapons in order to throw this weaponry onto the front against Ukraine. And gold has now fallen on world exchanges. And they lost at least 25 billion. Then they arranged the slaughter of livestock in their Asian part. They caused themselves losses of almost 2 trillion. And this is only the beginning. Further, they produced an internet outage for themselves. For our army this is good because all these Russian troops used the internet, because they have not developed their own communication. They used imported samples. And when the internet was turned off, they have nothing to use. Their logistics have collapsed. And therefore our troops have successes at the front. And we see that the banking sector is collapsing there, and there are protest sentiments. And, for example, now there is a huge volcano eruption in Kamchatka, earthquakes in Kamchatka that no one pays attention to. Many houses were damaged there. And we see that not the whole nature begins to strike our enemy here, strike there, strike there, strike there. And the system is collapsing. And by the way, what is interesting is that they are destroying themselves. This already happened during the Russian Empire. It did the same. They slaughtered cattle before the revolution of 1917. It is exactly the same — you can open the textbooks. Everything that is happening here now is a repetition of the beginning of the 20th century, the end of the 19th — beginning of the 20th century.

And there it is already really visible that the system is collapsing. Well, God grant, by the way, if we all think and wish that it collapses sooner, then thought is material. The more people wish it this way, the sooner they will collapse. The fact that they will collapse — they will collapse themselves. They are already doing it. Well, and they say: "God grant that it be sooner." And as soon as there is chaos inside, they will have no time for war, as it was during the First World War. When hunger and everything else began, the troops turned around, left the trenches to make a revolution. The Bolsheviks intercepted this and with its help made the revolution. The entire army simply ran from the fronts of the First World War. The empire collapsed. By the way, three empires collapsed then in total.

That is, this is approaching. That is, this is the law of nature, karma. It will be so. I think that their soldiers and commanders simply will not want to fight because chaos will begin at home and they will be forced to return to deal with this chaos. There will be no time for us. This is how people feel today — and not only clairvoyants or astrologers, but also political analysts and military analysts. That this is where it is heading.

Well, in any case, we will be watching this.

Friends, Ihor Mekheda was with us on the line — a researcher of places of power and medical ritual techniques, astrologer, numerologist, a person from whom you can always hear, it seems, an answer to any question and learn a lot of new things.

Mr. Ihor, thank you very much for today's meeting, for today's broadcast.

Thank you very much to you. May everything be good for everyone. All the best to everyone and our victory — which the cosmos itself will help us achieve.

God grant it, yes, and thank you very much to you. May it really be, as they say, in witch spaces — it will be as the witch says.

So, friends, thank us with a like and be sure to subscribe to the YouTube channel "Prohnozy ta Maibutnie" and to all of Ihor Mekheda's channels and pages. The links you can find in the description under our today's issue. Join the discussion in the comments, ask questions that you would be interested to hear answers to in the next broadcasts. Well, and we will give you quality information for consumption.

Mr. Ihor, take care of yourself and stay in touch. Thank you.
